Detention Appeal Procedures in China 1 In accordance with national administrative review regulations, appeal against the decision of detention could be made to the related regional MSA offices (totally 13), which cover certain port offices which deliver the notice of the detention, within 60 days from the date of detention. The regional MSA office, taking the responsibility of supervising the quality of PSC inspections, will examine and make decision on the appeal within 60 days from the date of acceptance of the appeal. In the case of the appeal-maker does not accept the decision made by the regional MSA office, it might forward the appeal to the head office for reviewing again. The appeal might also be forwarded to the head office of China MSA directly. Generally, however, the appeal will be transferred to the regional MSA in charge for initial reviewing before the head office returning its decision to the qualified appeal-maker.

2 In the case of the party concerned disagreed with the decision of the administrative review, the appeal may be brought to a People's Court in accordance with the national laws.

Other relevant information The owner / operator has the right of appeal under Section 55(7) of the Maritime Transport Act 1994, which provides for the appeal against detention to a District Court under Section 424 of the Act. The procedure for appeal is stated in Section 425 of that Act. In general, an appeal against detention will come through Maritime New Zealand for review of the case. The detention appeal or complaint is reviewed and put to a panel of at least 3 persons, with the facts sought from the PSC Officer who conducted the inspection. An assessment is undertaken, to determine that procedural as well as technical processes have been followed. In the event that the findings are found to be correct, the report stands, this is confirmed to the operator. If after review, it is identified that the issuance of the detention notice was not appropriate, APCIS will be requested to amend / remove the deficiency / detention and the operator advised accordingly.

In the event the operator is still not satisfied, the legal provision as stated above is available to them.

424 Rights of appeal

- (1) Where any other section of this Act provides that any person has a right of appeal under this section against a decision in respect of that person, that person may appeal to a District Court against that decision in accordance with this Part.
- (2) It is hereby declared that the exercise of any power conferred on the Director by any section that confers a right of appeal of the kind referred to in subsection (1) is, except where that section specifies that the right of appeal applies to a particular decision or decisions, a decision in respect of a person within the meaning of that section and may be appealed against under this section.
- (3) The owner of a ship, offshore installation, pipeline, maritime product, marine protection product, or other real or personal property shall, for the purposes of exercising a right of appeal under this section, be the person who is the owner of the ship, offshore installation, pipeline, maritime product, marine protection product, or other real or personal property for the purposes of that Part which contains the section giving rise to the right of appeal.

425 Procedure

- (1) Every appeal under section 424 shall be brought, by originating application, not more than 28 days after the date on which the appellant is notified of the decision appealed against, or within such further period as the District Court may allow.
- (2) In determining an appeal under section 424 the District Court may—
 - (a) hear all evidence tendered and representations made by or on behalf of any party to the appeal, whether or not that evidence would be otherwise admissible in that court; and
 - (b) either—
 - (i) confirm, reverse, or modify the decision appealed against, and make such orders and give such directions to the Authority, the Director, or the harbourmaster, as the case may require, as may be necessary to give effect to the court's decision; or
 - (ii) refer the matter back to the Authority, the Director, or the harbourmaster, as the case may require, with directions to reconsider the whole or any specified part of the matter.
- (3) Any appeal under this section shall be by way of rehearing.
- (4) Subject to this section, every such appeal shall be made and determined in accordance with the District Courts Act 1947 and the rules of court made under that Act.
- (5) Subject to section 427, the decision of the District Court shall be final.
